

Signs your dog has dental or gum disease

Dental disease can appear quite suddenly, or progress overtime and take months. Make sure you look out for these signs:

Deposits may build up on the teeth

Gums will be damaged and bleed

Mouth is infected which will give off a foul smell

Sensitive root of the tooth may be exposed and painful

Discoloured teeth that die and fall out

Your dog may also refuse food, have difficulty eating or leave flecks of blood in their bowls.
